PRESIDENT'S REPORT

February 2014

Happy February Everyone! Thank you all for your involvement in guild activities as evidenced at our January meeting. Your response to the appeal for Baby quilts was particularly gratifying, and touching.

I am looking forward to our Quilt Bee in March. Please lend a hand to this project, and our Comfort Society. I am also looking forward to meeting and learning with Ionne MacCauley at our next meeting.

I hope that we will be receiving many more 'gift bags' at our next meeting, to send on to the Canadian Quilters Assoc. annual meeting. Keep counting the inches as we "Walk to Brock".

I have my thinking cap on as I prepare for a "President's Challenge". I hope that you will all participate!

Happy quilting, if the Groundhog sees his shadow on Feb 2, maybe we'll have more quilting time, before we have to get back to the gardening!

I look forward to seeing you at Resource Day on February 22nd. Jeannette Lucas

February 2014 Program Event

Program:

Ionne McCauley is coming from Qualicum Beach to present a trunk show of some of her beautiful quilts. "Border and Finish Quilts" will get you to think outside the square - or rectangle. Use your imagination - you are allowed to! There are no quilt police to dictate the edges of your quilts. Have you ever wondered about some of those unusual borders and edge treatments on quilts that you admire at quilt shows or in magazines and books? Let her show you some ideas and she will explain how some of these came about and how to accomplish some of them.

Mini Workshops:

Mini Workshops - February

Mini Workshop fee is $5.00 - payable at the door
Workshops will start at 9:30.am

Carol Bowie is presenting "Play with Crayons and Fabric".

Come and play with crayons at a mini workshop this month where we will explore crayon art techniques. Reawaken your childhood creativity! Crayons and all other materials will be provided. There will be a $3 kit fee.

Joan Baker is presenting "Binding a Quilt without Bias Binding"

Workshop:

: Ionne McCauley is conducting a workshop at Fibre Expressions, on Sunday, February 23, entitled Finishing Quilts - More than Straight Edges. This is a practical workshop covering a wide variety of ways to finish the edges of your quilts. We will be making "workbook" samples that you can refer to later. Learn how to make various bindings to apply to curved and scalloped edges, how to make facings for unusual edges, making shark's teeth, different ways to join binding ends, and how to add hanging sleeves. Make your masterpieces using these techniques!

This is a guild workshop and as of January resource day we do not have quite enough support for the class. We would like to have a minimum of 15 students but she will allow 20 in her class. If there is anyone interested in her class please let Anne Selder or Ada Yeo know. The class fee is $45. Check out Ionne's workshop on her web-site ionnequilts.com

Fat Quarter Draw: February's Fat Quarters should represent SPRING. Anything that says Spring to you - flowers, buds, birds, bird's eggs, etc., or soft spring colours.

Thanks,

Karen made a motion to change the wording to "recognized post-secondary institutions". Seconded by Anne Selder. Unanimously CARRIED

Sue Lowell clarified the word "recognized" so that members were clear about what type of school would receive the money.

New Business: Quilt Canada has requested donations of gift bags for the 2014 gathering in Niagara. The pattern can be found in the January Guild newsletter. Jeannette reminded us that today is "Support your local Quilt Shop day."

Bus Trips: Gail Reichert reported on the April 9, 10, 11 bus trip to Anacortes.

Comfort Society: Karen states that the Quilt Bee will be held on Sunday, March 23rd and Monday, March 24th. The location will be announced when she gets a better idea of the number of members who will be in attendance. Volunteers are also needed at Karen's home on February 5th for preliminary Quilt Bee work. Please sign up today with Karen or respond by phone or email.

Block of the Month: In Debbie's absence, and for the benefit of new members, Jeannette explained what Block of the Month was and how it was organized. Today's winner: Billie Davies.

February's fat quarter draw: fabrics depicting the spring season, and the mini workshop presenter will be Carol Bowie demonstrating playing with crayons and fabric.

February's presenter will be Ionne McCauley with a trunk show and visual instruction on borders and finishes. She will also hold a workshop, "Finishing Quilts – More than Straight Edges" on Sunday, February 23rd from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. at Fibre Expressions. Please call one of your Program Committee members if you would like to sign up for this class.

Quilt Show: The name of our 2015 Quilt Show will be "Celebrating 25 Years of Quilting Arts". Lois has already confirmed Anna Hergert as judge. Lois will be holding her second auction at the April meeting and requested that members think about what they might be able to donate for this fun and worthwhile event. Proceeds go towards Quilt Show prizes.

Jeannette introduced Gary Pennington, who talked about his Heritage Project and the 100 year anniversary of King George School. Gary was interested in using archived photos in a memory quilt and was looking for volunteers to help with his project, which will be celebrated next fall. Reminder – Hands Across the Water will be held on our September 27th regular meeting day.

Show & Tell: Lorna Shapiro provided an amazing art show of her quilt works and kept us all laughing with her wonderful sense of humour. Darleen Vignal won Lorna's door prize.

Addendum to Presidents Message first page:

Judi Wilson is collecting our Guilds' "inches of quilting", leading up to the Quilt Canada Event in Niagara Falls. If you have had some sewing time over the holidays, please let her know the perimeter inches of your completed quilt. Is anyone planning on attending this event? Let's talk about it!

On the same topic, you will find an item in this newsletter regarding other contributions we can make to assist the Planning/Host Guild in their task. In the past we have contributed table runners, table toppers, and bags in wide variety. Let's see what we can do this time!

ADVICE FROM A SINGER SEWING MANUAL FROM 1949

Prepare yourself mentally for sewing. Think about what you are going to do... Never approach sewing with a sigh or lackadaisically. Good results are difficult when indifference predominates.

Never try to sew with a sink full of dirty dishes or beds unmade. When there are urgent housekeeping chores, do these first so your mind is free to enjoy your sewing. When you sew, make yourself as attractive as possible. Put on a clean dress. Keep a little bag full of French chalk near your sewing machine to dust your fingers at intervals. Have your hair in order, powder and lipstick put on. If you are constantly fearful that a visitor will drop in or your husband will come home, and you will not look neatly put together, you will not enjoy your sewing.

Request to All Quilters - From CQA for Quilt Canada 2014

We are requesting all quilters to help with this year's gift for the final banquet. This year, our committee has decided to have WINE GIFT BAGS made. One of the many "wonders" of Niagara is our grape industry. Although it is a wine gift bag, we thought that it really could be used as a "gift bag" for any number of things. They're quick and easy and they only take a fat quarter for the outside. Use your imagination and embellish the bag however you wish.

We've used fruits on the outside of the bag, designed by Jacki Morningstar. Jacki does a lot of work with designing and quilting, and her work is unique.

WINE GIFT BAGS

SUPPLIES: One fat quarter and scraps of fabric for appliqué. Trim the fat quarter to 16" x 19". Appliqué your choice of design to the centre of the fat quarter.

Fold your fabric lengthwise, WRONG sides together.

- Sew a 1/4" seam down the length of the 19" side. Turn inside out and press along the seam line. Sew a 3/8" seam from the edge over the previous seam. Press. The raw edge seam will be enclosed.
- Turn the top edge of the bag under 1/2" and press. Turn under again 1" and press. Sew the top edge down.
- Turn the bag wrong side out, with the seam at the centre back. Sew 1/4" seam across the bottom of the bag.
- Refold the bag so the seam is at the side. Place fingers on both sides of the centre back and centre front. Pull out, so you have the bottom of the bag looking as pictured.
- From the centre seam, draw a pencil line 2" from each side of the seam. Sew on the pencil line. Back stitch. Trim seam to 1/4".

Optional: Measure the bottom of the bag as shown. Cut a piece of cardboard this measurement (ours measured 3-1/4" x 4"). Cover the cardboard with the fabric left over from the fat quarter. Cut the fabric larger than the cardboard piece. Turn excess fabric to the wrong side of the cardboard and glue in place. Place the cardboard in the bottom of the bag, with covered edges on the bottom of the bag. Whip stitch to the side seams. Turn right side out.

- Sew a 24" length of ribbon to the back seam, about 4" from the top of the bag.
- *Please mail to Marilyn Michelin QC2014 Chair - 7 Dixie Rd. St. Catharines, ON L2N 2A7 by March 31st, 2014.

Hari Kuyo - The Festival of Broken Needles 8th February 2014

“Hand sewing slows the heart it seems. Or it does mine. Perhaps like writing longhand it cannot be done at speed. Begs not to be. One stitch, one breath. The rhythmic dip and dive of the long nose, round eyed needle lets the thoughts lift loose. And the heart feels unburdened. Sometimes hand sewing is more a joy than a job.” <http://stitchtress.com/2010/02/08/hari-kuyo/>

A needle is a fine tool: simple; portable; industrious. But what to do if it breaks, or is bent and can no longer sew true? Thank it. Lament it. Offer comfort. Japanese women do. For hundreds of years Japanese women have honoured their needles and pins on Hari-Kuyo, “the Festival of Broken Needles” which is a 400 year old Japanese ritual for giving thanks for broken and bent needles and pins. This involves sticking old and broken needles into soft chunks of tofu as a way of showing thanks for their hard work.

Hari-Kuyo originated as an annual, non-religious ceremony held in Shinto Shrines and Buddhist Temples for tailors and kimono makers to bring their worn and broken pins and needles (saved throughout the year) to lay to rest, and thank and honor for their faithful service. This tradition probably springs from the Eastern system of displaying gratitude towards objects that are a source of livelihood. It also reflects the animist belief that all beings and objects have a soul.

Hari Kuyo is not just about needles, it is also considered as a time to value the small, everyday objects of daily life that are otherwise forgotten. In the throw-away society in which we live, it is easy to overlook the small, inanimate objects, but better to recognise and appreciate them. This is called Mottainai, the concept of not being wasteful about small things, and that serviceable tools should not be carelessly lost, wasted or thoughtlessly replaced.

It’s also about the many sorrows that women are believed to carry in their hearts, the burdens of which are passed on to the needles during many hours of sewing. So the needles do deserve a proper farewell and rest at the end of their service. Burying needles in tofu is said to symbolize rest for the needles, as they are wrapped with tenderness. To show such reverence for a seemingly simple tool is, in the act of this ceremony, a living prayer. In fact, the women who participate in this requiem ceremony pray that their sewing skills will improve in the coming year. Hari Kuyo marks the end of the Japanese New Year celebrations and no household work is done on that day.

In generations gone by, a needle was a very precious thing - you may only ever have one needle. Imagine your connection to that needle, and the care you would take with it. That kind of connection is worthy of ceremony when its days are done, don't you agree?
